

November 2009 Newsletter

As we anticipated, requests have begun to arrive from schools for help with special cases, older children who have somehow slipped through the system and now find they can't cope in the higher grades. When they were younger, they were dubbed as lazy or nuisances but now they are in a more sympathetic and understanding framework where the teachers see their potential. The Talia Trust is being asked to pay for the special testing given, in such cases, prior to the matriculation exams and which parents usually finance. We hope to tell you some personal stories next time.

Meanwhile, you can see a film on our web site of the highly successful annual fund-raising event at Mishmar HaCarmel last month and those of you in England can join in what promises to be a great supper quiz on November 22nd. Please support us by asking your family and friends in the UK to participate or donate to this exciting event in Stanmore Synagogue , London Road (see attached) organized by our UK team.

Funds raised will go to help our current projects both in Israel and London.
